Overview

In this course, you will develop web content in HTML, enhance its formatting and layout using CSS, and add interactivity using JavaScript. You will: Set up the tools and resources you need to perform Web Development. Create web pages in HTML, constructing valid, well-formed elements, including navigation links, sections, titles, and semantic markup. Enhance HTML content with tables, images, movies, and audio. Apply styles to HTML elements using CSS. Use CSS to format the edges, size, position, and layering of HTML elements. Apply complex style rules using advanced CSS selectors, including pseudo-class selectors, structural selectors, and pseudo-element selectors. Create complex layouts using CSS newspaper style columns, grid layouts, and flexible box layouts. Improve the quality of web content, including adaptability (different displays and devices), searchability, usability, and accessibility. Submit data through URL query strings and web forms for processing by a web application server. Write JavaScript code to make web pages more interactive, perform data processing tasks directly in the browser, and manipulate items in the current web page. Write JavaScript code to iterate through collections of elements in a page to get and set their attributes and add event listener code. Use third-party libraries and frameworks for web front-end development.
